Facelift With Masters

Summing Up the Three-Days

On behalf of Campus Champs Elysées, we thank you for your attendance and participation in this workshop. It made for a fantastic and interesting event.

Live Surgery Workshop: Masters of face lifting demonstrate their techniques

By Campus Champs Elysées

This October, Dr. Michael Atlan, Dr. Jean Claude Dardour, and Tracy Sayag, the Director of the Clinique des Champs Elysées and President of Campus Champs Elysées, brought together a team of face lifting masters to present their unique techniques of face lifting at the workshop FACELIFT WITH MASTERS in Paris, France. The training was made possible by a combination of administrative efforts and guidance of the faculty to put together an educational experience that resulted in a complimentary practice for surgeons who already had some training experience in face lifting.

The workshop was designed to accommodate a small group of doctors from all over the world, allowing the Masters to be more available for personal interactions, as well as creating a strong educational experience for those who participated. The techniques of the different masters were highlighted in educational courses, cadaver labs, and live surgery experiences.

Clinique des Champs Elysées

Campus Champs Elysées partners with the Clinique des Champs Elysées to provide a unique learning opportunity

The next workshop, FACELIFT WITH MASTERS II, is already designated for the 17th-19th of January 2018. We are taking bookings on the INVIVOX platform.

After a warm welcome and orientation by Dr. Atlan and Dr. Dardour, Day One began with the masters introducing themselves and their different techniques so participants could compare and contrast what was being presented and how it applied to their knowledge.

Dr. Baraf asked, "How many of you have done less than five face lifting's?" which was met with the raising of all hands of those present. Many participants soon realized that there was a vast array of training techniques that they were going to learn and would be able to apply in the coming days and after, as well, in their own practice.

Day Two was a hands-on experience where participants tried the new techniques they learned with the help and guidance of the Masters. They teamed up on seven different cadavers and began to apply and practice what they had seen the day before. The SMAS was the hot topic and was explained to each team by a Master as they reached this step on the cadavers.

Day Three highlighted the face lifting procedure in the best way, with a Live Surgery. The patients had been prepped and were ready to be operated on when Dr. Baraf, Cornette and Goin began their face lifting surgeries. Each step was explained as the doctors worked and participants were able to ask real-time questions.

Certificates of participation were presented to all who attended the workshop. The attendees left with a better understanding of how to perform a facelift and were able to exchange ideas among colleagues and professional.

Presidents Letter

By Tracy Sayag

I am pleased to report that the workshop, FACELIFT WITH MASTERS, was a successful and productive experience. The Campus Champs Elysées launched this first workshop in an effort to ensure that all participants left with a better understanding and new techniques of face lifting to add to their experience and practice.

Under the leadership of Dr. Atlan and Dr. Dardour, our team was able to carry out an innovative and integral presentation of different ideas.

Dr. Baraf, Dr. Goin, Dr. Dardour, and Dr. Cornette de Saint Cyr each presented their own techniques of face lifting, giving an array of new information that can elaborate and improve your practice. One of the profound outcomes of this workshop was having a personal growing experience with specific training objectives in a structured display.

The Clinique des Champs Elysées was happy to provide an environment where the procedures, techniques, and principles learned during the workshop were presented in their regular environments.

We hope you enjoyed the workshop and found it helpful. There was a positive energy and interesting conversations that made this event an exciting one. Keep an eye out for more upcoming workshops that we have scheduled for the year 2018.

Different Techniques of Face lifting

Each master has had significant experience within their practice of face lifting which they shared with all the participants of this workshop. The participant themselves had their own operating experience which they were elaborating on. This workshop was an opportunity to enhance the participants surgical skills of face lifting as well as meet with other colleagues in the same situation.

The Masters Skills

Different techniques were presented by each of the surgeons showing that face lifting doesn't only have to be done in one way. The first day of the workshop, the facelift, mid lift, and fat grafting procedures were presented.

Dr. Goin spoke to us about his use of lipostructure and wrinkle treatment along with the way he performs his surgeries. Small incisions when it is possible, avoiding to cut the hair, and other tricks unique to his technique. Dr. Cornette de Saint Cyr explained that, to him, the skin approach is very important. He preserves the temporal hair and side burns. He also demonstrated his shortening of an elongated upper lip procedure. Dr. Baraf elaborated on his incision techniques, skin and muscle work and using injections with water and adrenaline before undermining. His idea is that it is not a soft lift, but a soft recovery time.

My Turn to Try

The cadaver lab took place at Ecole de chirurgie du fer a moulin. Each participant spent time practicing themselves, in a team, and applied what they had seen and heard the day before. The Masters were there to perfect their technique and demonstrate if something was unclear. The SMAS was observed intently by the participants, as well as the more complicated techniques of a mid-face lift.

LIVE

The three live surgeries by Dr. Baraf, Dr. Cornette de Saint Cyr, and Dr. Goin put all of the elements of the workshop together, and gave the participants an in your face type of practice where questions and answers of the procedure could really help to improve their practices.
